An Egyptian Mystery, Solved! explores the question of how the huge stone blocks of the pyramids were transported. Students are introduced to several theories on how the stones were moved, and then examine the archaeological discoveries that solved this puzzle. The passage has ten standards-aligned questions that will ask students to demonstrate their comprehension, think critically, and analyze sources. It is the 2nd of a 7-part series on ancient Egypt: Video Worksheet with Answers for Mysteries of Egypt video originally presented by IMAX Theaters. Narrated by and Starring Omar Sharif. Excellent video highlighting Egyptian History with a focus on the Pyramids and the importance of the Nile River. Good introductory video at the beginning of a Egyptian history unit. 18 QuestionsCheck out my other offerings. More to come! Creation to the Resurrection. Volume I, in the words of the author: In Volume I of The Mystery of History, I cover world history from Creation to the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. The text spans the incredible stories of ancient times, ancient lands, and ancient peoples. Where most ancient studies encompass only Egypt, Greece, and Rome, The Mystery of History goes much farther. In Volume I, I include chronologically based stories from all around the world, including Asia, North America, and the Holy Lands. Beginning with the Garden of Eden, stories will spread from Sumer and Babel to Troy, Phoenicia, and Assyria. The study of early civilizations will include King Wu of China and Asoka of India as well as King David, Julius Caesar, and Xerxes of Persia. Above all, a favorite feature of Volume I is the weaving of Bible history with world history. In reality, it is all world history. But for most of us, history has not been taught this way. It has not been integrated. In The Mystery of History, I have retold major stories from the Bible in the order that they happened alongside significant world history events and figures. As an example, Bible characters and world history figures living just decades apart include: Joshua and King Tut Daniel and Aesop Ezekiel and Buddha Nehemiah and Socrates and Cleopatra and Herod the Great. Imagine lining up such amazing figures on one master timeline! Imagine learning their stories back to back in the order they happened! For most of us, it's an illuminating experience. Third Edition is now available! As of August, 2019, Volume I is now in its Third Edition! Upgraded to a colorful hardback Student Reader, the Third Edition comes with a digital version of the Companion Guide through a one-time download code. (It's inside the front cover. For those that prefer paper, a printed version of the Companion Guide is available as a separate purchase.) The Companion Guide is loaded with pretests, multi-age activities, timeline directions, mapping exercises, quizzes, reading lists, and more for an adjustable and enriching experience – no matter your method of education. Still using the second edition? For those of you straddling two editions in a group or co-op, we are providing a thorough Update List reflecting all major text changes from the Second Edition to the Third Edition. Please click here. Audio anyone? Last, you may also choose to listen to the stories of Volume I through an Audiobook that I personally narrate. (Available as MP3s.) With text in hand, you can read along with me. Without the text, you can relax, listen, take notes, or color while I speak directly to you and your family. Beautifully mixed background music adds life, drama, and more meaning to these timeless historical lessons. (MP3 tracks "without music" are also available!) In the car, over lunch, before bed, or as an integral part of your school day – you can journey through the ancient world at your own pace. (This audio set contains story lessons only and does not include pretests, activities, quizzes, exercises or similar items.) This curriculum is for all ages, but for specific guidance, please go to "Teaching All Ages" for ideas on catering The Mystery of History to your students. In the first lesson I address Acts 1:8 with the promise of the Father to send the Holy Spirit. It is called the Day of Pentecost. From there, the history of the Early Church really begins. It is not an easy history to digest. It was amid trials, persecution, and martyrdom that the magnificent story of Jesus Christ spread. In Volume II, I expand on the fall of the Western Roman Empire and the Dark Ages that followed. This text delves into . . . the chivalry of knights and damsels, kings and queens, and the peasants who faithfully served them Vikings and villains; castles and crusades; and the poetry of Dante and Chaucer the life of Mohammed and the spread of Islam the rise and fall of dynasties in Japan and China the Coptic (Egyptian) Church and Great Zimbabwe in the south the rituals of the Aztecs and the gold of the Incas in Peru the peoples of New Zealand and Greenland, on opposite ends of the earth, as they emerge into our view of world history. All along the way, Volume II of The Mystery of History pauses to hear the voice of God as He speaks through missionaries like Columba, St. Patrick, and Cyril. Students will learn of the struggles within the Medieval church as it grows, expands, and threatens the authority of emperors and kings. I ended this volume with the tragic death of Joan of Arc, the fall of Constantinople, and the invention of the printing press that helps spread the Word of God across Europe. You won't find these significant and amazing stories packaged together just anywhere. I've done the research for you so that you and your students are free to absorb this history and explore the untold mysteries in between. Audio? Last, you may also choose to listen to the stories of Volume II through an Audio Book that I personally narrate. (Available as CDs or MP3s.) With text in hand, you can read along with me. The Medici's, the Inquisition, and Christopher Columbus. Michelangelo, Martin Luther, and Henry VIII. Copernicus, Shakespeare, and Pocahontas. These are but glimpses of great power, great minds, and great passion. I'm in awe over each and every one of the geniuses that graced this rich time period. As is true with the other books in this series, The Mystery of History Volume III will look at what was going on all over the world in the order that it happened. So, while the Renaissance and Reformation were taking shape in Europe, we'll look at the rise of wealthy empires in West Africa, the Mogul dynasty of India, and the peaceful lives of the Aboriginals of Australia. We will also visit Ivan the Terrible in Russia and the Tokugawa family in Japan. Of course the stories will be told of the master painters and sculptors who made the Renaissance famous, as well as the scientists and philosophers who dissected it. And the time period wouldn't be complete without boarding a ship or two to circumnavigate the globe for spices and riches in the East. Many more explorers will touch the soil of North America and start a new chapter in the history of the world. We'll bow with the Pilgrims who will give thanks for their survival and welcome the Native Americans to their feast. Two pieces – for one price! With one purchase, you will receive the Student Reader with a digital version of the Companion Guide through a download code located in the book. For those that prefer paper, we offer a print version of the Companion Guide as a separate purchase. Starting with Bach and Handel, two of four major composers included in Volume IV, the time period will hear music soar to new heights, and observe numerous "wars of independence." From the American colonies, the heart of Mexico, the goldmines of Australia, the mountaintops of South America, the shores of Greece, and the walls of the Alamo . . . . . we will find mankind desperately striving for liberty and freedom through the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Most of the time, he will achieve it – but seldom without heartache, revolution, and bloodshed! On a less tangible battlefield, we will also see in this volume several "wars of ideologies" meaning that we will see the world "take sides" behind invisible lines on their views toward Marxism, Darwinism, Fascism, and the Cold War. Of course, before we get to the Cold War, we will see nations catapulted into two painful World Wars in the twentieth century with the rise of Lenin, Mussolini, Stalin, Hitler, and Emperor Hirohito. Unfortunately, the stories of these notorious dictators will require a deep, pensive look at the Gulag system in the Soviet Union, the Holocaust in Europe, and the atomic bombs dropped on Japan. All are difficult topics that need to be examined to learn valuable lessons from history! Some lessons are still being learned, as we will also look at modern man's struggle with a collapsed Soviet Union, a divided Korea, tension in the Middle East, and an ongoing War on Terror. Yet, as violent as parts of this volume will be (and which will require screening for young students), we will take time to meet the artists, inventors, writers, and humanitarians who contributed toward the "soul" of mankind over the last three centuries. And, we will join the missionaries and adventurers who journeyed to inland China, the wilds of Africa, the South Pole, and the gray, speckled surface of the moon. I watched the first moon walk when I was a kid, and so this volume has encroached upon my own personal timeline, as it will yours to make recent historical events that much more meaningful. American history? While a greater deal of American history will be included in Volume IV (such as the American Revolution, the War Between the States, the War in Vietnam, the Civil Rights movement, and more) this volume will not necessarily replace American history for those students seeking to fill a requirement. My hope is that American students will see U.S. history in a broader, more relevant manner when it is woven into the fabric of world history events. Can you use this volume to dovetail American history? Absolutely, but I kept this book a world history text for the sake of all my readers, here and abroad. The last and final chapter of The Mystery of History series will look at what is to come, as outlined in the Book of Revelation. This final peek at "end times" will not follow any single view of eschatology, but it will take students to the final chapters of Revelation, where we are given a profound picture of a new heaven and a new earth. That my friend, is the hope of the "mystery" of history – that there is an eternal plan for believers, revealed through Scripture and delivered by the atoning blood of Christ. One convenient purchase! The stories of Volume IV are contained in a colorful, hardback Student Reader. With the purchase of the Student Reader, you also receive a download code for our digital Companion Guide (loaded with pretests, activities, quizzes, timeline directions, mapping exercises, and literature suggestions.)
